About The InterContinental Carlton Cannes

The Hotel of Stars on the French Riviera. Welcome to the InterContinental Carlton Cannes. The palace has evolved throughout the years as a timeless monument, a place which, day by day, combines refined service and well-being. This World Class hotel is located on the famous Croisette Avenue, close to the Cannes Palais des Festivals and to the shopping district. It offers breathtaking views of the Mediterranean Sea.

Accommodation

All sea view rooms and suites of the Carlton InterContinental have been renovated (approximately two hundred rooms out of all 343 of the Palace). Grace Kelly, Gary Grant and Alfred Hitchcock have filmed several scenes of « To catch a thief » at the Carlton. This cult film has inspired Nicholas Papamiltiades, young Interior Designer from Paris, who re-created the glamorous Hollywood cinema ambience in the rooms and suites of the Carlton.

An elegant and refined decoration for those premises still marked by the foot prints of the biggest names of the cinema, such as Orson Welles, Gary Cooper, Liz Taylor, Alfred Hitchcock and many others. Here, everything is luxurious, elegant and refined. A place full of glamour and allure. Sobriety with a hint of sophistication. Pure lines, noble materials, harmony of colours, everything evokes luxury which carries itself to the balcony where the infinite blue of the Mediterranean sea catches everyone's eye.

The InterContinental Carlton features 39 suites named after top celebrities, all offering a unique view over the Mediterranean Sea. Ten exceptional suites, from 115 to 380m², are located on the Carlton's 7th floor along with 29 other prestigious suites. Welcome to the legendary world of the stars!
